I have a few questions,

It seems that islands trust doesn't represent the whole community. All the power is given to the people with all the money which is communistic. So why is the power of islands trust given to the rich instead of by the percentage of people in the area.

Why are we attached to all the islands? Each island is different. Everyone has there own separate needs and to have one body of people make generalizing statements about everything in the draft of a new policy.

Why is Islands trust feared when they are supposed to be looking after us, making decisions, and we put them there to make the decisions?

Can Islands trust be dissolved?
