Denman Island Planners and Trustees:

To whom it may concern,

I have met with the proponents of this venture, and have been impressed with the thoroughness and transparency of their plans and aspirations for this land project.

When we came to Denman 6 years ago, one of the things that inspired us to make Denman our home, was the sense of responsibility and community we encountered.

That sense of inclusiveness, care for the land, environment, and protecting Denman and its resources for future generations is exactly what is needed to maintain and respect that sense of community. This is exactly the type of creative land use that is needed, in my view, to foster cooperative community living now and in the future.

regards,

Rick Middleton
