I am writing this letter to voice my concern regarding the change in the wording re: the heritage sheep. I understand there were approximately 36 letters sent to you asking for the wording to remain as it was and approx. 6 letters asking for a change in the wording. I was not able to figure out how to get on the zoom meeting but is it true that someone named Heather decided to go for the change of wording because of some mixups? This is not right if I am correct. What is the point of anyone writing letters about anything if they are essentially ignored?
