Subject: Accessory dwelling

It would make life a whole lot easier if i could develop an accessory building, be allowed to render it an accessory dwelling, since my main dwelling will be a whole lot more complex to manage logistically. I do not like the idea of living out of a trailer for all of it, and i would appreciate if the wording of your draft bylaw allowed for this approach. The accessory building would work as a dwelling during construction of the main dwelling, and could be setup fast with a prefabricated dwelling from nickel bros, and after vacated could be available for rent (since i would really hate to have a prefab as the main dwelling). This would make it a whole lot easier on us folk that already have a lot of headaches to deal with in regards to working the raw land that we own, and it would provide additional housing for which the limiting wording of the draft did not account for.

Thanks,
